

This was a big month for DTI as representatives from our organization were asked to share some insights into DTI's approach to solving some of the challenges faced by our industry. From New York, to New Orleans, and on to San Francisco ...DTI had a presence. No wonder they call Delaware the First State.

2004 ANNUAL CONFERENCE
"The Road to Recovery:
Leading Effectively, Investing Wisely"
September 19 - 22 | New Orleans, Louisiana
Hyatt Regency New Orleans

Delaware's Tom Jarrett Elected President of NASCIO

The National Association of State Chief Information Officers (NASCIO) held its Annual meeting at the Hyatt Regency in New Orleans on September 19-22, 2004 despite a close encounter with Hurricane Ivan. At its meeting, the National Association of State Chief Information Officers (NASCIO) elected Tom Jarrett, Secretary and CIO, Department of Technology and Information for the state of Delaware, to serve as NASCIO President for its 2004-2005 program year.

SpeechTEK 2004
"Talk About The Possibilities"

New York Marriot Marquis
September 13 - 16, 2004

DTI's Terry Ann Reed Presents at SpeechTEK 2004

SpeechTEK 2004 is the world's premier event dedicated exclusively to speech products, applications and solutions. Terry Reed, DTI Project Leader, participated in a panel discussing voice technologies being used in government. Terry did an exceptional job in communicating the great success that Delaware has had in developing speech applications using VoiceXML.

PeopleSoft Connect
User Conference
September 20 - 24
San Francisco, California

DTI's PN Narayanan Presents At PeopleSoft Connect 2004

PN Narayanan, Senior Team Leader of the Major Projects Group, presented the "First" State of Upgrades: Delaware and PSE Human Capital Management 8.8 " highlighting the special considerations that are required for education and government customers as well as tips and tricks for upgrading to HCM 8.8 and PeopleTools 8.4.

DTI's Tom Jarrett Presents At NASCIO'S Annual Meeting

Secretary Jarrett, joined James Geringer, Director of Policy and Public Sector Strategies, ESRI, and Former Governor, State of Wyoming, Ted Kanavas, State Senator, State of Wisconsin and Steve Kolodney, Vice President, Public Sector Group in a panel discussion "Critical Success Factors for Effective CIO Leadership: Aligning with the Governor's Public Policy Agenda."

DTI's Bill Bowden Presents At NASCIO'S Annual Meeting

DTI's Executive Director Bill Bowden, joined Teri Takai, Chief Information Officer and Director of Information Technology, State of Michigan, Samuel Wilkins, Director of the Office of Human Resources, Budget and Control Board, State of South Carolina and President-Elect of the National Association of State Personnel Executives (NASPE), and Deborah Russell, Manager, Economic Security and Work Section, AARP in a discussion called "Coping with Brain Drain and the Personnel Gap- Workforce and Training Initiatives."